WASHINGTON, Monday, March 21.

THE UNION CAUCUS.

The adjourned meeting of the Union caucus of last week met to-night, but owing to the slim attendance no definite action was had upon any of the matters under discussion. The chairman was authorized to call them together whenever it was deemed expedient. The principle subject under consideration was the duty of Union members generally to stand by the action of committees on all important measures, which was fully acquiesced in by all those present.

THE REBELS WELL POSTED UP.

An extract from a rebel paper sent here by Gen. MEADE contains full details of the proposed reorganization of the army. They assume to be very knowing as to what changes are to be made. Gen. MEADE is anxious to know in what manner the rebels obtain information concerning prospective military events in advance of that received at headquarters.

GEN. GRANT TO REVIEW THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

Thursday will be a great day in the Army of the Potomac. Gen. GRANT will review the victors of Gettysburgh. The President, Secretary of War, Gen. HALLECK, and other distinguished personages, will grace the occasion by their presence.

REIMBURSEMENT OF STATES FOR MILITIA EXPENDITURES.

The question of reimbursing the States for expense in calling out the militia, was up before the House Military Committee to-day. The large amount of money involved, and the intricate shape which this business has assumed, render its careful manipulation a necessity. No decision will be given in regard to it, until the whole matter has been thoroughly overhauled.

GEN. HUMPHREYS A WITNESS.

Gen. HUMPHREYS was examined, to-day, before the Committee on the Conduct of the War. He went into explicit details of the battle of Gettysburgh, and is understood to have vindicated Gen. MEADE'S strategy in that affair. Gen. HANCOCK, who is here, will testify to-morrow.

TAXATION AND REVENUE.

The vexed problems of taxation and revenue absorbed the attention of the Ways and Means Committee through a laborious session to-day. The report on the Tax and Tariff Bills, as prepared by the sub-committee, will be made soon.

ENLISTED MEN NOT TO BE TRANSFERRED.

The Secretary of War has issued an order revoking all orders assigning men not reënlisting as veterans to duty in other companies and regiments, until the expiration of the time of service, and all enlisted men assigned or transferred to other companies or regiments, will be returned to their original company or regiment.

GEN. ROSECRANS' RECENT ORDER.

Gen. ROSECRANS has issued an order rescinding all orders by whomsoever made, which prohibit the sale or distribution of any newspaper or periodical within his department. Also an order requiring all persons from the rebel lines (including deserters from the rebel army) to take the oath of allegiance before a District Provost-Marshal, to be approved by the District Commander.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 21.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN AND WORKING MEN—A SPEECH.

A Committee on behalf of the New-York Workingmen's Democratic-Republican Association to-day waited on the President, to inform him that their Association had elected him an honorary member. The objects of the organization are to advance the working men of America in morals, position and loyalty; it binds them together in support of the Union, and induces them at all sacrifices to sustain it. They requested Mr. LINCOLN to give his views on the subject matter of which their address treated.

The President, in reply, said the honorary membership, so generously tendered, was as gratefully accepted. They comprehended that the existing rebellion meant more than the perpetuation of African Slavery; that it was in fact a war upon the rights of working people. Partly to show that the view had not escaped his attention, and partly because he could not better express himself, he read a passage from his message to Congress of December, 1861, and he then concluded as follows:

The most notable feature of the disturbance in your City last Summer was the hanging of some working people by other working people. It should never be so. The strongest bond of human sympathy, outside of the family relation, should be on uniting all working people of all nations, tongues and kindreds; nor should this lead to a war on property or owners of property. Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable—is a positive good in the world. That some should be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence is just encouragement to industry and enterprise. Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him labor diligently, and build one for himself; thus, by example, assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built.

At the conclusion of the President's remarks, he handed a copy of his speech to Mr. STILL, the Chairman, who, upon receiving it, said:

"On behalf of the committee, Mr. President, I thank you, and I will only add that it is the general desire of the workingmen of the United States that the next President of the United shall be from Springfield, Ill., and that his name be ABRAHAM LINCOLN."

For which the President answered: "I am very much obliged to you, gentlemen," and the company dispersed.

THE OVERLAND MAIL CONTRACT.

Inquiry having been made as to whom the contract for carrying the overland mail was made, it is ascertained that the advertisement for the overland mail was withdrawn Feb. 16, 1864, at the request of the Committee of the Senate on Post-offices and Post-roads. Consequently no contract has been awarded for the service.

GOVERNMENT HAS NOT MEDDLED WITH ELECTIONS.

The Secretary of War, in a communication in response to a Senate resolution, says that no orders concerning elections were ever issued from the office. He incloses a letter from Assistant Adjt.-Gen. TOWNSEND, reporting that he has given no orders to Provost-Marshals in Kentucky, Delaware, Maryland, or Missouri, relative to elections in those States; also, a letter of the same tenor from Provost-Marshal-Gen. FRY, which, however, excepts a dispatch of Oct. 31, to Assistant Provost-Marshal JEFFRIES, at Baltimore, as follows: "Direct your Provost-Marshals to give them aid in carrying out Gen. SCHENCK'S orders for preserving the purity of the elections at the polls in Maryland."

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

A letter from the Army of the Potomac says:

Nothing of importance is occurring. Dr. HATFIELD, of Brooklyn, preached at the headquarters chapel yesterday, to a large audience.

Lieut.-Gen. GRANT is soon expected to review the army. Great preparations are accordingly being made.

Deserters come into our lines at an average of from six to eight a day. A number of sick will very soon be removed from the army.

CAUCUS OF UNION CONGRESSMEN.

A caucus of Republican or Union members of the House was held to-night at the Capitol, Representative MORRELL, of Vermont, in the chair. The object was a harmonization of views on important pending questions, and with a view of effecting an early adjournment of Congress, including financial measures necessary to the support of the Government, and the bill reported by Mr. DAVIS, of Maryland, from the Select Committee on the Rebellious States, to guarantee to certain States, whose Governments have been usurped or overthrown, a republican form of Government. Various gentlemen suggested different bills, which they thought also ought to receive prompt attention, but no votes were taken as to measures which should have precedence. It was generally agreed that those of the most public importance should first be considered.

THE STEAMER FAIRBANKS.

The steamer Fairbanks, from New-York, for the safety of which fears were entertained, arrived here to-day. She went ashore on the eastern side of the Chesapeake, and lay there several days, until with the aid of two vessels she was enabled to get off safely.

THE BODY OF COL. DAHLGREN.

Admiral DAHLGREN left Sunday morning for Fortress Monroe, and it is expected that the body of his son will arrive in a few days.

REPORTER OF THE SUPREME COURT.

The United States Supreme Court has appointed JOHN WILLIAM WALLACE, of Philadelphia, to be the reporter of its decisions, in place of Judge BLACK, resigned.

CONFIRMATION.

Rev. JOHN C. JACOBS, of New-York, has been confirmed as a hospital chaplain.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 21.

MILITARY INTERFERENCE IN ELECTIONS.

The Vice-President submitted the report of the Secretary of War, communicated, in compliance with the resolution of the Senate of Feb. 8, for information in relation to the orders of the Provost-Marshals in the States of Delaware, Kentucky, Missouri and Maryland, concerning elections in those States. Ordered to lie on the table and be printed.

ROAD TO IDAHO.

Mr. GRIMES, of Iowa. (Union,) offered the resolution of the Legislature of Iowa, in favor of the construction of a military and wagon road from some point on the west side of the Missouri River, near the mouth of the Niobrara River, in Nebraska Territory, to Gallatin in Idaho Territory. Referred to the Committee on Territories.

LAND CLAIMS IN OREGON.

Mr. HARDING, of Oregon, (Union,) introduced a bill in reference to the donation claims in Oregon and Washington Territory. Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

RAILWAY LAND GRANTS IN KANSAS.

Mr. LANE, of Kansas, (Union,) introduced a bill to amend the act for a grant of land to Kansas, in alternate sections, to aid in the construction of certain railroads and telegraphs in said State. Referred to Committee on Public Lands.

PROMOTING ENLISTMENTS.

Mr. WILSON, of Massachusetts, (Union) called up the bill to promote enlistments in the army and for other purposes.

A motion to recommit the bill was lost. Ayes, 14; noes, 22.

Mr. WILSON modified his amendment so as to read after the word wife, "or the woman recognized as such."

Mr. WILSON withdrew the second section of the amendment giving compensation to the loyal owners.

Mr. DAVIS, of Kentucky, (Dem.) offered an amendment providing that the United States District Courts shall appoint three Commissioners, whose duty it shall be to make a just valuation to be awarded to loyal owners for slaves set free under the bill.

Mr. DAVIS said it was a plainly written provision of the Constitution, and every State had a similar provision, that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. This bill proposed to take the wife and children of every slave mustered into the service, not only without any just compensation, but without any compensation at all. He would ask was there ever a more flagrant violation than that, by a legislative body? He supposed that the average family of a slave would be a wife and three children. Their price would be $1,600, and with the husband, $2,400. Yet it was proposed to take this property without any compensation whatever. Suppose all the horses of Northwest were taken, as the negroes of loyal border States are proposed to be, would the Northwest submit to it? No, Sir. They would have resisted. It would have been an injustice, and it would have been their right to resist until a just compensation was afforded for the property taken. The Government was not entitled to this property until a just compensation had been made for it.

Mr. DOOLITTLE, of Wisconsin, (Union,) said Congress had no interest in the property taken. When we did take private property for public uses we must pay for it, or provide the legal means by which the party owning it may receive payment. It was not necessary that the money should be paid down, but that the party should have assurance of his pay. If the legislative power, in the exercise of sovereign dominion in behalf of the people whom it represented, chose to assume the power to estimate the value of property, it could do so. He maintained that there was no violation of the Constitution in this. Congress assumed the power, when it abolished Slavery from the District of Columbia, to judge of the value of slaves, from all the circumstances and surroundings, at $300. Could an agent do what we could not do ourselves? That would make the creature above the creator.

Mr. DAVIS said the Senator's argument was in his opinion whipping the devil around the stump. It assumed that Congress might do in person what it might do by its agents; and that Congress was not a party to this transaction for taking private property for public uses. He (Mr. DAVIS) assumed that the power of Congress in this respect was restricted by the Constitution so as not to conflict with the laws established by the State Governments. Otherwise we had a Government of unlimited powers. If Congress had the power to establish these agencies, let it assess damages through them—let the Provost-Marshal assess the value of the property taken. Under the amendment he had offered, every proceeding was a quasi judicial action before the courts, capable of being repealed. Mr. DAVIS denied that Congress had the power to assess the value of private property taken for public uses. He thought this bill violated all the principles of the common law, magna charta, and the decision of the highest courts. Assuming that the number of slaves in Kentucky liable to be enlisted was ten thousand, allowing a wife and three children to each slave, it would take forty thousand slaves from Kentucky without making any law of compensation whatever. Was it strange that he, representing Kentucky, with her hundred and fifty thousand slaves, should make a vehement protestation against such legislation? He would be false to his nature and instinct if he did not do so. If gentlemen on the other side would practice the golden rule, and place themselves in his position, they would form the same conclusions. He believed if the press of the country were left free, much of the error of the times would be overthrown and our institutions longer preserved. He desired to see our courts delivered from Provost Marshal and military surveillance. Unless this was the case, there was an end to Constitutional liberty in the land.

Mr. WILKINSON, of Minnesota, (Union,) said he favored the original bill, because it was not only in favor of employing all the slaves which could be mustered into our armies for the purpose of removing the burthens of war from the shoulders of the white young men of our country, but he also favored it because he believed it would work the emancipation of slaves everywhere. He believed that the people had settled down upon the conviction that the Government was not only to be one Government, but was also to be a free Government; that when this war should be ended, Slavery would be ended, too; that there should be no slaveholding tyrants to rule the political affairs of this nation, or none of that influence left to destroy the peace and happiness of this people. He would not stop to inquire whether the measure was constitutional or unconstitutional. The only question with him was this: Does the great law of necessity—that law which the Senator from Maryland calls the "higher law"—the law above the Constitution—require or justify it? He believed it did.

The Senate then went into Executive Session, and shortly afterwards adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 21.

RAILROADS AND THE GOVERNMENT.

Mr. HOLMAN, of Indiana, (Dem.,) from the Committee on Claims, reported a resolution setting forth that certain public lands have been donated to the Illinois Central Railroad Company, the Burlington and Missouri and the Missouri and Mississippi Railroad Companies, on the condition that they would transport the mails and troops of the United States, free of charge; and, whereas, the first-named has received $452,000, the second $6,000, and the third $40 from the War Department for the transportation of troops, &c.; therefore,

Resolved, That the Secretary of War be directed to require the said companies to refund the money so paid to them, and that hereafter he make no such payments.

The resolution was passed.

ENFORCEMENT OF THE OATH OF ALLEGIANCE.

Mr. DUMONT, of Indiana, (Union,) introduced a bill providing that all bonds, obligations and undertakings, whether sealed or unsealed, heretofore made or to be made, to secure the loyalty or good behavior and fidelity to their oath of prisoners of war or paroled prisoners, in order to secure their release, be hereby declared valid and binding against the parties making the same and their securities, the penalties to be enforced in any Circuit or District Court having jurisdiction of the same. Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

TARIFF ON WOOL.

On motion of Mr. BEAMAN, of Michigan, (Union,) the Committee on Ways and Means were instructed to inquire into the expediency of increasing the tariff on the low grades of wool.

ARRESTED COPPERHEADS.

Mr. ELDRIDGE, of Wisconsin, (Dem.,) offered a resolution calling on President LINCOLN, the Secretary of War and the Secretary of State, to furnish the names of all persons arrested, and held as prisoners in forts and other places of confinement for political or any other alleged offences against the Government, and who have not been tried or convicted in any civil court, and the causes of the arrest and imprisonment, and also whether any persons have been banished to the rebellious States with or without a trial.

Debate arising on the resolution, it lies over.

THE GOLD MINES AND THE REVENUE.

A resolution was adopted instructing the Committee on Public Lands to inquire as to the best mode of securing to the Government the benefits of the gold-bearing region of the public domain.

THE WEST POINT ACADEMY QUESTION.

The House concurred in the Senate's amendment to the West Point Academy Bill, increasing the pay of cadets to that of midshipmen, namely, forty dollars per month.

Mr. CHANLER, of New-York, (Dem.,) approved of the amendment, and expressed the hope that the distinction between these two classes of the children of the Government may be removed. West Point is the elder of the two, and certainly has given ample proof to the country of the advantage of such a military school. The most narrow-minded prejudice against West Point cannot find any just ground of opposition to this simple act of justice and equality. Besides, a plan has been recently proposed in the City of New-York, which will eventually spread its influence over the whole country, by which the cadet appointments are to be given to the scholars in our public schools, thus opening the line of promotion to the humblest child in our midst, many of whom have capacity of mind and body equal to the studies of a military career.

Another amendment was concurred in, as amended by the Committee of Ways and Means—that, for one year from the first of July next, an additional cadet for each district shall be appointed, as now provided by law.

INDEMNITY FOR A FRENCH VESSEL.

The House passed the Senate bill giving indemnity to the owners of the French bark La Manche, illegally seized by our blockading squadron.

EDUCATION OF NAVAL ENGINEERS.

Mr. RICE, of Massachusetts, (Union,) introduced a bill for the education of Engineers and Naval Constructors at the Naval Academy, which was referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

PENSIONS.

A resolution was passed directing the Committee on Invalid Pensions to inquire into the expediency of legislation upon the equalizing of military and naval pensions.

THE ARMY APPROPRIATION BILL.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Army Appropriation Bill.

Mr. KERNAN, of New-York, (Dem.,) offered an amendment providing that no part of the money appropriated for army transportation, shall be expended for the transportation of civilians employed in the departments of the Government to or from their homes at the public expense.

Mr. KERNAN stated as a reason for offering the amendment, that he had been informed that thousands had been transported over the railroads to vote at the Pennsylvania elections. Committees had been appointed to ascertain how clerks and other Government employes would vote, and, if they indicated that they would vote the Republican ticket, they were conveyed thither at the public expense.

Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) said there was no necessity for the amendment, unless its design was to imply censure. The bill did not authorize any such expenditure. The transportation pertained to the military. The gentleman was evidently misled, as he (STEVENS) knew the information was not correct. The gentleman might hunt through all the Departments, and he could not find a single case. He was aware that, so far as Pennsylvania was concerned, transportation was paid for, either by the voters themselves or their friends. The money was not taken from the treasury.

Mr. KERNAN said he obtained his information from a clerk in the Transportation Department, who gave him to understand that the passes to the civilians were similar to those furnished to soldiers. He did not make the statement of his own knowledge.

Mr. STEVENS replied—He did not believe that such a slanderous rumor should go forth unnoticed, and he pledged himself to introduce a resolution to refer the investigation to the Committee on the Conduct of the War.

Mr. KERNAN could not, as the gentleman demanded, give the name of his authority. If a committee should be instituted to examine into the subject, he should name the witnesses.

Mr. STEVENS—A Committee on the Conduct of the War has already been raised. I call on the gentleman, as a man of honor, to give the name of the author. I pronounce the whole thing false.

Mr. KERNAN—I cannot say the statement is true; but I repeat what I heard. Give me any other but a whitewashing committee, and I will furnish witnesses.

Mr. STEVENS—If the gentleman will not give us the name of his informant I will hold him responsible for the calumny, and so will the country. The Administration cannot be scandalized in this way. It cannot be excused unless the gentleman gives his authority, and deserves the severest censure. I again call upon the gentleman to furnish the name of his informant.

Mr. KERNAN would not be placed in a false position. He said the information led him to believe the charge to be true. Let a fair committee be appointed to inquire at whose expense the transportation was paid. If the charge did not prove true, no man would be more ready than himself to say he was misled. The gentleman from Pennsylvania knew very well that the clerk, if his name should be exposed, would be subjected to great persecution.

Mr. STEVENS replied there would be no persecution when a man told the truth, but the liar and perjurer would be punished. It did not become the gentleman to remark that the Committee on the Conduct of the War would not act impartially. The charge came to his astonishment from that quarter. Unless the name of the informant be given, the charge must be put down as a slander.

Mr. HARRIS, of Maryland, (Dem.,) did not believe the Administration to be incapable of doing what it was charged with. An investigation should be made to ascertain the facts of the case. Who, he asked, furnished transportation for the men and children of negro soldiers stolen from St. Mary's County? Government vessels came there and robbed the citizens of their property.

Mr. STEVENS—I call the gentleman to order. He is getting an issue with one of these women! [Laughter.]

Mr. HARRIS, resuming, said there was no law for such robbery by the infamous Gen. BUTLER. He believed a Government that sanctioned such a robbery could be guilty of any crime.

Mr. KELLY, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) would say to the gentleman from New-York, (KERNAN) that the Government sent no voters to Philadelphia, or the State of Pennsylvania. The people knew the great issue involved in the recent elections. They knew our armies in the field were either to be sustained by the patriots at home or overthrown by a wily foe in the rear, and they did not mean the result of a three years' bloody war should be lost for the want of the expenditure of a few thousands of dollars. They knew the gubernatorial candidate of the Democratic party, Judge WOODWARD, who was one of the Judges of the Supreme Bench of Pennsylvania, had expressed his entire sympathy with the South, in a general discussion, in which he said the division of the country should be made on the northern line of Pennsylvania.

Mr. STILES, of Pennsylvania, (Dem.,) wished to know where such a declaration was made.

Mr. KELLY replied in the Supreme Court room to the bar of Chester and Delaware Counties.

Mr. STILES—On what occasion?

Mr. KELLY—It was in conversation between the Judge and the bar before the opening of a case, and while they were waiting.

Mr. STILES—Does not my colleague know the slander was refuted?

Mr. KELLY—No.

Mr. STILES—Do you know that the statement has been pronounced entirely untrue?

Mr. KELLY called upon his colleague, who represented the Delaware District, to say whether the Messrs. DARLINGTON did not hear Judge WOODWARD make the remark from the Supreme Bench.

Mr. BROOMALL, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) felt himself bound after this appeal to say what he both saw and heard. His colleague was mistaken in a fact. It was not from the bench nor during the argument of a case. It was before the trial list was called. He had never seen the statement denied, nor did he think it would be denied in the State of Pennsylvania. He held himself responsible. He had proof and witnesses. He could not precisely remember the time the conversation took place, but it was before any outbreak and before any State had seceded. The common talk was as to what things were going to be. The conversation was in the Supreme Court room, and without secrecy. Judge WOODWARD said if there was to be a division between the North and the South he wanted the dividing line to be north of Pennsylvania.

Mr. KELLY repeated his assertion, qualifying it so far as had been explained by his colleague. Judge WOODWARD did make the remark, and no man who valued his character for veracity would contradict it. He asked the gentleman from New-York to indicate the name of the employe, who had thus uttered a slander, and was trying to bring the Government into disrepute among the loyal people. He cast back his aspersions on the City and State, which he honor in part to represent.

Mr. STILES said it appears the conversation took place before any State had seceded, and long before the war. He would say to his colleague that this slander had been repeated all over the Commonwealth, and as often refuted. Did not his colleague know that it was denied through the public press, and by Judge WOODWARD himself? He would assert on undoubted authority that a fund for electioneering purposes was raised in Philadelphia by contractors under the Government, one of whom paid $2,500. The fund was wholly made up by contractors, who are plundering the Government.

Mr. KELLY asked whether his colleague would deny that Judge WOODWARD ever used the language.

Mr. STILES replied it was immaterial, for, if he did, it was before hostilities had broken out; besides, it was in private conversation, and was dissented from by the gentlemen who were present at the time. It was made as to the contingency of separation.

Mr. BROOMALL remarked that he was mistaken in saying the declaration was received without a word of dissent. More than one dissented, and, with a considerable degree of warmth, WILLIAM DARLINGTON, of Westchester.

Mr. STILES—Did my colleague join in the publication of what was said?

Mr. BROOMALL—I never published anything except on the stump, and I never saw any denial of the statement.

Mr. STILES—Then you never read the papers.

Mr. MALLORY, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) asked the gentleman where Judge WOODWARD wanted the dividing line? Might it not be that he wanted the northern line to be Canada? [Laughter.] It was an indefinite sort of conversation.

Mr. STEVENS—Judge WOODWARD wanted to go with you, and you ought to thank him for it.

Mr. BROOMALL—Judge WOODWARD did not want the Canada line, and did not want to associate with Yankees. He entertained opinions similar to those of the gentleman from Kentucky.

Mr. MALLORY replied that he had never expressed a disrespectful opinion of the Yankees, and he defied the gentleman to lay his finger on the proof.

Mr. BROOMALL was glad to be corrected, and to hear that the gentleman differed from Judge WOODWARD.

Mr. MALLORY simply denied that he had ever expressed an opinion in concurrence with Judge WOODWARD as to the Yankees. The gentleman had no right to impute such a feeling to him.

Mr. BROOMALL said that Gen. MCCLELLAN and Judge WOODWARD were in political accord.

Mr. MALLORY replied, that if Gen. MCCLELLAN agreed with Judge WOODWARD that would be a reason why he should also agree with him.

Mr. STILES said if this slander was not refuted during the canvass, it was because it was not thought worth denying. If the Government did not furnish transportation to persons to go home to control the elections, the amendment could do no harm. He did not know the truth or falsity of the charge; but he did know that 30,000 more votes were cast at that election than in any previous one.

Mr. GOOCH, of Massachusetts, (Union,) a member of the Committee on the Conduct of the War, said he had been informed by gentlemen having charge of the civilians who went to New-Hampshire to vote, that not a single dollar was paid by the Government for transportation. Every civilian going thither paid his own expenses, or if they were unable to do so, provision was made by their friends. He understood the gentleman from New-York (KERNAN) to charge that the Committee on the Conduct of the War, composed of gentlemen of both sides of the House, was a whitewashing committee.

Mr. KERNAN explained. He desired to see a committee appointed to investigate, and that he did not want to see the subject sent to a whitewashing committee. He did not refer to the Committee on the Conduct of the War in a disrespectful sense.

Mr. KERNAN'S amendment was, after further proceedings, rejected—Yeas, 42; Nays, 63.

Mr. HARDING, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) offered an amendment that no part of the money appropriated by this bill shall be applied or used for the purpose of raising negro troops, or paying negro troops now in arms.

When the committee rose, this amendment was voted on, and rejected by a vote of 18 yeas against 81 nays.

YEAS—Messrs. Ancona, Dawson, Dennison, Eldridge, Harding, Harrington, Harris of Maryland, Long, Mallory, Marcy, Miller of Pennsylvania, Morrison, Randall of Pennsylvania, Rollins of Missouri, Ross, Stiles, Stuart, Wadsworth.

Mr. DAWSON, of Pennsylvania, (Dem.,) offered an amendment to pay soldiers in gold or its equivalent. Rejected.

The Army Appropriation Bill was then passed nearly as it was reported, and the House at 4½ adjourned.

A Speech by the President.

At the close of the Patent Office Fair on Friday night, President LINCOLN, in answer to loud and continuous calls, made the following remarks:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: I appear to say but a word. This extraordinary war in which we are engaged falls heavily upon all classes of people, but the most heavily upon the soldier. For it has been said, all that a man hath will he give for his life; and while all contribute of their substance, the soldier puts his life at stake, and often yields it up in his country's cause. The highest merit, then, is due to the soldier. [Cheers.]

In this extraordinary war extraordinary developments have manifested themselves, such as have not been seen in former wars, and among these manifestations nothing has been more remarkable than these fairs for the relief of suffering soldiers and their families. And the chief agents in these fairs are the women of America. [Cheers.]

I am not accustomed to the use of language of eulogy; I have never studied the art of paying compliments to women, but I must say, that if all that has been said by orators and poets since the creation of the world in praise of women were applied to the women of America, it would not do them justice for their conduct during this war. I will close by saying God bless the women of America! [Great applause.]

Gen. SICKLES and Gen. OGLESBY, of Illinois, also spoke.

OUR PAROLED PRISONERS.

List of Those Arrived at Annapolis on March 16.

CONDITION OF THE MEN.

Two of Our Officers Executed by the Rebels.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., Friday, March 18, 1864.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The last load of our men by flag-of-truce boat New-York arrived here on Wednesday, the 16th, from Richmond. I regret not having been able to obtain a list sooner. When the poor fellows land, it requires the attention of every one to contribute to their comfort, and to aid in clothing and relieving them of the tattered relics of rebeldom. On the former Wednesday over six hundred were received, but it was impossible to furnish you with a list. Those by the last arrival, on the 16th, were, many of them, in a sad condition. They looked starved, hollow-cheeked, and were scarcely able to walk off the boat. The number was over four hundred, including about forty officers. Gen. NEAL DOW, Capt. SAWYER, Capt. FLYNN, and other officers, were among them. Gen. Dow shows the effects of his confinement. He looks much older, and is very much reduced in flesh; but he is remarkably cheerful, and shows that his spirits are nothing daunted by being held in durance vile by the rebel authorities. He has much information to communicate to the Government, as also has Capt. SAWYER. Although Capts. SAWYER and FLYNN have both been released, yet Capt. SAWYER brings with him the most indubitable evidence that two of our officers have been executed in their place; and this fact the rebel authorities have kept secret. Capt. SAWYER has the written assertion of this fact from no less a person than Gen. L——, not intended, it is true, to fall into the hands of a Union prisoner. But he obtained it, at any rate; we need not say by what means. The release of Capts. SAWYER and FLYNN, therefore, does not relieve the authorities of Richmond from the murder of two of our officers. We hope our Government will make diligent inquiry into this matter. We expect the arrival of several more boat loads. It is said several thousand will soon arrive. I shall endeavor to send you a list of their names.

SCRANTON COAL AT AUCTION.

OFFICE OF THE DELAWARE, LACKAWANNA AND WESTERN RAILROAD CO., NEW-YORK, March 16, 1864.

This Company will hold their Fourteenth Regular Monthly Auction, on WEDNESDAY, the 30th day of March, 1864, at 12 o'clock, noon, at the office of the Company, No. 35 William-st., at which time they will offer, by SIMEON DRAPER, Auctioneer, embracing all the usual sizes, and deliverable at their depot, Elizabethport, N. J., during the month of April next.

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND TONS OF FRESH MINED SCRANTON COAL,

The sale will be positive. Each lot put up will be sold to the highest bidder; no bids, in any form whatever being made for account of, or on behalf of the Company.

Fifty cents per ton in bankable funds, to be paid at the time and place of sale, and the balance in like funds on receiving the order for the coal, which must be called for within ten days thereafter, and the coal taken away within thirty days from the day of sale, unless navigation is obstructed. Buyers who wish, however, can have an additional thirty days for taking the delivery of their purchases, by making a further deposit of fifty cents per ton within the ten days above specified. Interest at 7 per cent. per annum will in such case be charged on the balance, from the time stipulated for payment until paid, and twenty-five cents per ton to cover the expense of stocking the coal—both to be paid on delivery of order.

The other conditions of sale will be substantially those hitherto accepted by all purchasers, by private contract, of coal delivered at Elizabethport, so far as applicable. The coal will be delivered direct from the cars on their arrival from the mines, when practicable—otherwise from the stock. These conditions will be modified to meet the wants of ocean steamers, whose arrival cannot be definitely fixed.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

The war in the Southwest continues to furnish its quota of news reports from various points. The railroad is again in running order between Chattanooga, Tenn., and Ringgold, Ga., which is now Gen. Thomas' advanced post. The mustering officers report that large numbers of Gen. Thomas' army are still reënlisting as veterans. Dispatches from Strawberry Plains, in East Tennessee, represent the rebels still in large force at Bull's Gap, in numbers as high as twenty thousand. A general belief was entertained there that the rebels meditate another invasion into Kentucky. The guerrillas on the north side of the Cumberland River are again active. Gen. Hobson's cavalry are after them vigorously, with a prospect of breaking up their operations. The rebel Gen. Forrest is reported to be organizing for a movement into West Tennessee, and Gen. Grierson is on the lookout for him.

An officer who was in the recent fight at Yazoo City, says it was one of the best contested and most desperate of the war. The Union force consisted of the Eleventh Illinois, Col. Schofield, Col. Coates' Eighth Louisiana, (colored,) and 200 of the First Mississiopi Cavalry, Col. Edward Osband, (colored.) The enemy had eight regiments, under command of Ross and Richardson. The fight commenced at 8 A. M., and lasted nearly till dark, when the enemy retired. Three hundred of the Eleventh Illinois were surrounded in a small fort on the bluff outside the town. A storm of shot and shell was poured upon them all day, when a summons was sent to them to surrender. They replied that they didn't know what surrender meant. The remainder of the Union force was in town, where they were met by the enemy, who had gained cover of some of the buildings. The contest raged for three hours, when the enemy retired. Two gunboats were in the river, but could render but little assistance. The colored soldiers fought bravely, and sometimes with desperation.

A refugee from Richmond reports that the defences of that city are very extensive and elaborate. They are in the form of a semicircle, the outer embankment being continuous, almost without a break, around the city. Inside of this, another line of intrenchments extend around the city, with frequent breaks. Between the two is a fine military road, so that it is easy to reinforce any part of the defences at short notice. These fortifications are heavily armed with the best of artillery. What seems strange to us, at this distance, is that these extensive fortifications are not manned by any considerable force, but the citizens are formed into companies, ready at the tap of the drum to proceed to the intrenchments to resist invasion. A large picket force is stationed outside the lines, and it is expected if any attacking force approaches, that the alarm can be given in season for every man to be at his post. There is no considerable force of regular military in the capital, but Gen. Pickett's division is within about thirty miles, and can reinforce the home militia at short notice.

The Army of the Potomac will be reviewed on Thursday of this week by Gen. Grant. The President, Gen. Halleck, the Secretary of War, and other distinguished gentlemen are expected to be present.

The revenue cutter Miami, convoying the captured steamer Chesapeake, arrived at Portland yesterday.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, yesterday, a report from the Secretary of War was received, containing information as to what orders had been issued by Provost-Marshals affecting elections in the Border States. The Secretary states that no orders were issued by those officers. Mr. Grimes, of Iowa, offered a resolution of the Legislature of Iowa, in favor of the construction of a military and wagon road from some point on the west side of the Missouri River, in Nebraska Territory, to Gallatin in Idaho. The Senate then took up the bill to promote enlistments, and a long discussion took place on the proposition to pay the loyal owners of slaves for their property when taken by the Government for troops. Without concluding the subject, the Senate went into Executive Session and adjourned.

In the House yesterday, a resolution was introduced asking the Secretary of War to require certain railroad companies in the West to refund money paid by the Government for the transportation of troops, because the acts of Congress giving said companies grants of land require them to perform such service gratuitously. The Committee of Ways and Means were instructed to inquire into the expediency of increasing the tariff on the low grades of wool. The Committee on Public Lands were instructed to inquire as to the best mode of securing to the Government the benefits of the gold-bearing region of the public domain. The Senate's amendment to the West Point Academy Bill was concurred in, viz.: To increase the pay of cadets to that of midshipmen, viz., forty dollars per month. Another amendment was concurred in, as amended by the Committee of Ways and Means—that, for one year from the 1st of July next, an additional cadet for each district shall be appointed. The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Army Appropriation Bill, when Mr. Kernan, of New York, (Dem.,) offered an amendment providing that no part of the money appropriated for army transportation shall be expended for the transportation of civilians employed in the departments of the Government to or from their homes, at the public expense; and he proceeded to charge that such had been the case, and elections had been influenced thereby. This led to an excited and lengthy debate, during which Mr. Kernan refused to give his authority for the charge, and Messrs. Kelly and Broomall, of Pennsylvania, positively fastened upon Judge Woodward, of Pennsylvania, an assertion, made before the consummation of secession, that, if separation did come, he wanted the line to be drawn north of Pennsylvania. The House rejected Mr. Kernan's amendment, and also one by Mr. Dawson, of Pennsylvania, providing that none of the money should be used to raise negro troops, and then passed the bill and adjourned.

LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate yesterday, the bills for the better regulation and discipline of the State Inebriate Asylum, and to amend the act to alter the map or plan of New-York City, and to establish an Inebriate Asylum in New-York, were ordered to a third reading. Notice was given of a bill for the erection of a new Capitol.

The Assembly was not in session, being on an excursion to New-York.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday received a letter from Hon. Fernando Wood, asserting the plea of the Westchester Supervisors for not summoning him to testify about the management of Harlem Bridge affairs; that his testimony could not be had because of his privilege as a member of Congress, to be an unjust attempt to asperse his character, and declaring his willingness to testify fully upon the subject at any time. The Westchester investigation, he says, he knew nothing about—was never asked or called to testify before the conductors of it—till he saw the whole matter in print. The letter was referred to the committee appointed to investigate the charges of the Westchester Supervisors. Mayor Gunther sent in a veto on the resolution appointing Anthony Eickhoff translator to the Record and Surrogate's Courts, at a salary of $2,500, on the ground of illegality. The Board adjourned to 2 o'clock P. M. on next Monday.

The Common Council yesterday agreed to disagree on the ordinance making the annual appropriations for the year 1864. The Aldermen directed the clerk of their board to take the ordinance as adopted by them to Albany, and the Council directed the Comptroller to do the same thing with their ordinance. The Aldermen, however, in addition, directed their Finance Committee—Aldermen Ryers, Ottiwell and Masterson—to go to Albany to look after the interests of the ordinance as prepared by them. The amount adopted by the Board of Aldermen foots up $5,738,568 02; the amount adopted by the Council is $5,698,546 02, or a decrease of $40,022 on the figures of the Board of Aldermen.

Comptroller Brennan yesterday, transmitted to the Common Council his annual report for the year 1863. We gather from it that the receipts of last year were $18,447,833 64, which, with the balance December 31, 1862, makes a total of $20,181,745 36, against an expenditure of $18,526,803 59, leaving a balance December 31, 1863, of $1,654,941 77.

Comptroller Brennan yesterday opened 31 proposals, embodying 61 distinct bids, for a loan of $200,000, on "Riot Damages Indemnity Bonds," bearing 6 per cent. interest, payable half-yearly, and the principal redeemable Nov. 1, 1882. The whole was awarded to 11 bidders, at premium rates of from $103 55 to $104 50, and will net $7,446 50 to the County in premiums. The aggregate amount of the bids was $905,400.

A memorial was adopted by the Common Council, yesterday, petitioning the Legislature to so amend the tax laws as to provide for the collection of the taxes in the Spring, instead of the Fall. This change would save to the City and County a large amount in the way of interest on revenue bonds.

Six Indian Chiefs, representing the Oneidas, Cayugas, Senecas, Tuscaroras, Onondagas, and St. Regis (Mohawks) Tribes, were present last evening at the meeting of the Historical Society. They are on their way to Washington to adjust matters relative to their original treaties with the Government.

Gen. Hurlbut made a speech to the City Council of Memphis, on the 17th, giving them to understand if they did not clean the city and take measures to improve its sanitary condition, he would stop their collection of taxes, and do the work himself.

Cook, the bounty broker, who was last week convicted of swindling a recruit out of $250, has been admitted to bail in the sum of $1,500. He was taken before Justice Barnard, of the Supreme Court, and released as above.

Hon. Owen Lovejoy, M. C., of Illinois, lies dangerously ill at the house of J. N. Ely, Esq., Henry-street, Brooklyn.

Government is considering the expediency of issuing two new coins, to be of bronze—one and two cent pieces.

The Cattle market was supplied with 3,500 beeves yesterday, over 500 of them stale animals, which could not be sold at the last market. The weather favored transactions, but butchers had too much meat from former purchases to pay more than last week for any except fat cattle, of which there were not enough. The poorer droves went off slowly—brokers said scarcely as well as one week ago, or at 10c.@11¼c. There was a good demand for medium to fat cattle, at 13c.@14c., while a few superior animals were sold at an advance of ¼c., or at 15¼c.@16c. ℔ lb. They were very fine, choice animals, large and fat. The expected droves will make a good supply for to-day.

Flour was more active and a shade firmer yesterday. Wheat was rather more sought after, at uniform prices. Corn and Oats were quiet at drooping rates. A moderate business was transacted in Cotton, Hay, Hides, Leather, Oils, Tallow, Groceries, and Provisions; the latter at irregular figures. Whisky was in fair demand and held with more firmness. The Freight market was less active, though shippers had any existing advantage.

The Stock market opened with much buoyancy yesterday, but fell off in the afternoon. Gold was firmer than on Saturday by 1 per cent. Money 6 per cent. in easy supply. The Bank return shows an expansion in loans of eight millions and over. At a late hour on the Street the Railway speculation was again upward.

An Experiment and its Result.—When, on the 1st of January, 1863, the Emancipation Proclamation was issued, and before that event, it was feared that in case such a measure were of any practical effect, the whole of the Northern States would be overrun by negroes from the South. As a first step in the prevention of this calamity, the last Congress appropriated six hundred thousand dollars to carry our freed negroes to the West Indies or to any other place, so that it was beyond the boundaries of this country. About a year ago, the first ship load of some four hundred, sailed from Fortress Monroe to Hayti, and, after a twelve months' trial of that locality, with its fervid climate, fertile soil and negro government, they arrived in this country again last Sunday morning, and landed a short distance from the spot at which they had embarked—the expense of their voyage both ways having been borne by the Government. As might have been expected, they had suffered much hardship and misery during their stay in Hayti, and were glad of the opportunity to return to this country.

The people of the North are not as much afraid now, as formerly they were, of being overrun by the emancipated negroes of the South. Neither from Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Tennessee, nor the Carolinas, do we see any such swarms rushing in the direction of Ohio, Massachusetts and New-York as we were threatened with. They stay, in the main, where they were "born and raised," whether it be within the Confederate or Union lines. This is something of which formerly people would not be convinced, but now they see it.

Nay, from the far South, from those parts of it within our lines, we hear the same cry as ever for more negroes. Down there, they are as eagerly sought after as they were in former days when the fire-eaters wished to reopen the African Slave-trade, so as to replenish their already heavy negro stock. A recent military order, dated at New-Orleans, not only peremptorily negatives all "applications for the privilege of transporting negro families to other countries," but adds that "application has been made to other departments for surplus negro families for service in the Department of the Gulf."

Gov. Vance's Speech—North Carolina and the Rebellion.

The Wilkesboro speech of the Governor of North Carolina, on the relations of that State to the Confederacy—published by us almost in full—has a special interest. It comes from a man who originally was opposed with his whole soul to the secession movement; it treats of the duties of a Southern State which has had the name of being the most disaffected to the Confederacy; and while some of its language is scurrilous, and most of its conclusions are wrong, it still enforces the rebel side of the case with more than ordinary sense and vigor. It was designed to be an argument and an exhortation to the people of North Carolina against the project of a convention which shall withdraw the State from the Confederacy, in order to obtain peace, which, it seems to be admitted, is now the main desire. Gov. Vance based his appeal upon four or five considerations. It is well worth while to measure them by a Northern standard—or rather, we should say, by the standard of true Union principles, which our armies are fighting to vindicate.

Governor Vance first maintains that though secession may have been wrong, North Carolina, having been a party to it by her own act, is bound to abide its fortunes, and not desert it. This argument, though it has a certain tone of honor in it, is yet a bad one. It is equivalent to saying that one must continue in an evil way, simply because he has entered upon it; that if one has joined a band of thieves, he is in honor bound to keep true to them to the end. According to thieves' honor he would be; but not according to the honor of honest men. If it was wrong in North Carolina to join the rebel Confederacy, it cannot be wrong in her to desert it. But Gov. Vance also says that though the Confederate Constitution recognizes the right of secession, yet the exercise of this right, in conjunction with a return to the Union, would be an act of war upon the Confederacy. This, doubtless, is true; for North Carolina, in resuming her place in the Union, could not maintain a neutral position between the Union and its enemies. He also says, with truth, that if North Carolina shall withdraw to become an independent State, it will contribute nothing to her peace; because President Lincoln would, nevertheless, be bound to bring her back into the Union by force, according to his construction of the Federal Constitution, and President Davis would be equally compelled, by the military necessity involved in the peculiar geographical location of the State, to make conquest of it, and establish his authority over it. It is shown truly enough that no mere secession from the Confederacy could give North Carolina the peace she covets. That peace can come only when the war has been thoroughly fought out, and has resulted in the triumph to the Union, or triumph to the Confederacy. But Gov. Vance fails to examine which would most hasten this peace—the continued connection of North Carolina with the Confederacy, or its return to the Union. It would have cost him very little effort to show that the detachment of so powerful a State would speedily settle the fate of the Confederacy, and end the war. It perhaps might for a time aggravate the horrors of the war in North Carolina, by inducing Lee's army to fall back upon it in order to save it from our occupation; but to do this, he would have to evacuate Virginia, which would be a surrender of a State still more important, and the loss of which would be even more quickly fatal.

Gov. Vance holds out in terror the fact that North Carolina, if she should return to the Union, would have to assume her share of our public debt, and of taxation, and of all our public burdens. Of course she would. But this fact don't help him, unless he can satisfy his people that the public debt and other burdens of the Confederacy will weigh less lightly upon their shoulders. He does not attempt this. The attempt would have been ridiculous.

But the Governor's strong point is that President Lincoln offers nothing but spoliation, oppression, and disgrace to those who submit. This misrepresentation is not worthy of the character Gov. Vance used to sustain. He talks of confiscation precisely as if the Amnesty Proclamation did not insure to those who should avail themselves of it their old rights to all their property, excepting that of slaves, which was made to depend upon the validity of the Emancipation Proclamation, and which, whether forfeited under that Proclamation or not, has been made practically worthless by the unavoidable wear and tear of the war. He talks of oppression, in face of the fact that the Amnesty proffers full restoration to every civil right. He talks of disgrace, as if there could be any disgrace in acknowledging again the same old flag which North Carolina once deemed her very highest glory. The Governor takes good care not to be very clear or precise in the picture he portrays of the consequences of submission. He talks of the fate of Beaufort, South Carolina—the sale of its houses and lands to the very slaves of their former owners—as if that were to be the fate of all the South, unless it resisted and beat back the Federal authority. He paid no regard to the essential fact, that the terrible lot he described was the fate, not of men who yielded and returned to their allegiance, but of those who still defied the old Government and were fighting it to the death. Rightly presented, the argument would have been a damaging one against him. The very fact that such retribution is visited upon unrepentant treason, ought to be a powerful incentive to a renewal of loyalty.

We have hardly seen anything from North Carolina so indicative as this speech is, of a strong popular current in that State against the Jeff. Davis Government, and toward the old Union. Gov. Vance argues all the way as if he were conscious that he had the unpopular side. He did about as well for that side as the nature of the case allowed. Yet it cannot be that such fallacies can long impose upon the more intelligent classes of the State. The canvass for the election of a new Governor, which will take place during the coming Summer, will undoubtedly be of a very exciting character. It seems certain that one of the candidates will be an open and thorough-going advocate of the convention. If he succeeds, Jeff. Davis will find himself confronted by a new and very serious trouble.

Crimes at Sea.

The English people have been a good deal stirred up on the subject of capital punishment lately, in consequence of the execution, at once, of five seamen for murder. We narrowly escaped, on Saturday last, a similar horror, in the case of the crew of the Lone Star. They were three—all young men.

The man they were charged with murdering was the mate of the vessel in which they served. The testimony tended to show that on a bright moonlight night, one of them called the mate to the forward part of the ship, telling him that there were porpoises under the bows of the ship which he could harpoon, a sport the mate was fond of; and, when the mate went forward, he was knocked on the head with an iron belaying-pin and thrown overboard, but not without cries of "Murder" and "Help," which were heard by the man at the wheel, who called up the other officers and sent them forward at once, where they found two of the men, one of them pulling at a line, which he said was fast to a porpoise. It was only after some minutes that the absence of the mate was noticed, and the two men, on being asked where he was, then first said that he was overboard, having fallen over while harpooning a porpoise. The harpoon was, however, discovered to be fast in the chains, and when morning came the spots of blood on the deck and rail of the vessel, on a belaying-pin which lay there, and on the clothes of the men, furnished damning proof of the crime which they had committed. It was also proved that they had threatened to kill the mate that night, and one of the men was proved afterwards to have admitted the committal of the crime. The jury acquitted this last one, as he was not shown to have shared in the crime, unless by this admission, and found the others guilty of manslaughter, on the theory, perhaps, that there might have been some sudden quarrel, on the mate coming forward, in the heat of which the deed was done.

There has also been, within the past few days, an examination into another somewhat similar case, but this time, it was a mate of a vessel who was charged with the murder of a steerage passenger on board.

These are instances, very dreadful ones indeed, of crimes which, it seems to us, are becoming fearfully frequent, and which are giving greater and greater truth and more general application to that dreadful expression which has been applied to some ships, when they have been called "hell afloat." If we look to see what was the reason of this murder of the mate of the Lone Star, we find that one of these men had been but a short time before most cruelly beaten by him and the Captain of the vessel. So had the sailors who were hung in London.

Our criminal records show that this tendency to brutality on the part of officers of vessels is very great, and that it works continually toward producing greater evil and worse crime among the seamen—not that the fault is altogether with the officers, for the sailors are often a bad set. Evil in either class increases the evil in the other; and where, as must be the case, a ship is for months away upon the ocean, where the influences of laws and of public sentiment, which so powerfully restrain men at all times in civilized society, are weakened by long absence, and by the sense of arbitrary power—which is always a dangerous thing to give to one man over another—it is not to be wondered at that brutality works itself out sometimes to monstrous lengths, and in its turn awakes fierce, cruel and dreadful revenges.

Well, what shall we do about it? Shall we rest satisfied with saying "It is no wonder," and so let the black stream flow on, growing fouler and blacker and deeper every year without an effort to stay it? That would not be Christian. Legislation might do something for it. We discuss the waning proportions of our commerce. We call upon our legislators to remove hindrances and to lend a helping hand in one way or another to increase it. We publish long reports, and we eagerly read them, if they propose to show ways and means by which our steamers may be sent to carry our flag through every sea. And all this is as it should be. But why should we not take some thought for the sailors, and see if legislation could not better their condition, and make them a little less like "dumb, driven cattle," or fierce wild beasts? Why should we not try whether laws cannot be framed to save them from the harpies that stand ready to rob them, body and soul, the moment they put their feet on shore?

But legislation is not all that is needed. We need also the rigid and equal enforcement of the laws which now exist. Seamen ought to feel, both officers and men, that certain punishment awaits offences. Sailors have a very general feeling that the law rarely punishes an officer for any crime, and it is no doubt from this feeling, in part, that some of their greatest crimes arise. If they were sure that a brutal mate or captain would be punished by the law, they would be less likely to take the law into their own hands, and they would be less likely, too, if they were sure that the law would also be applied as strictly to themselves in every case.

And shipowners could do a great deal more than they do. They are not careful enough in their selection of officers. There are ships which come into this port, voyage after voyage, under the charge of the same master, against whom there are repeated complaints of ill-treatment of his men; and owners, though they hear the complaints, content themselves with saying that sailors' stories are not to be believed, and do nothing about it. Now, we all know that this is somewhat so, and that there are sailors in plenty who will never hesitate at telling a false tale of cruelty against a captain or a mate, if by the means they can bring a suit for assault and battery, which will put money in their pockets. But we believe that owners are no careful enough to inquire into such cases themselves, to sift the statements of both master and men, to find out their merits. Nor do they, some of them, at least, and this is worst of all, care if a master is cruel to his men, provided he makes speedy voyages and handles his ship well.

It is said that old Floyd Ireson, who

"For his hard heart,
Was tarred and feathered and carried in a cart,"

by the women of Marblehead, because he

"Sailed away from a sinking wreck,

nevertheless never lacked a good vessel to command, or an owner to put him in charge of her. If the day should ever come that one act of brutality, inflicted by a master or a mate upon a seaman, was enough to prevent him from being put in command of a crew again, there would be hope of better things for sailors.

The Siege of Mobile.—A sentence in the news of yesterday from New-Orleans probably indicates the countermanding of a projected military operation, whose stoppage may be a matter of gratulation rather than regret. The sentence is as follows: "Madisonville, a small town on Lake Pontchartrain, opposite New-Orleans, has been evacuated;" and we judge it means that there is no intention now of advancing an army against Mobile, and opening its siege. We remarked the other day that we could not afford to waste a great army and navy in besieging Mobile, although undoubtedly it was a desirable point to seize at an opportune moment. There was an opportune moment a few weeks ago, and that was when Gen. Sherman rushed with his army from Vicksburgh to Meridian. There is little doubt now, as is proved by many things that have lately come to light, that Mobile was the point then really aimed at; but the heavy body of troops which had been moved to Madisonville to coöperate with Sherman in the assault, did not "come to time," as was also the case with Smith's cavalry at the upper end of the State of Mississippi. Gen. Sherman's march had been so extremely rapid to Meridian, that, on reaching that point, Gen. Banks' column had not even set out for Pearl River; nor, unfortunately, would it have been ready to do so for some weeks subsequently. As a consequence of this Sherman could but retrace his steps, damaging the enemy as much as possible.

This opportunity for a brilliant stroke gone, and the next best thing was to cease effort in that direction, at least at this moment. There was talk, even after that, of the advance of a large force from the army at New-Orleans for the purpose of opening a siege, and even talk of additional troops being sent South for that purpose; but the evacuation of Madisonville indicates that wiser orders have lately been sent to the Department of the Gulf.

Amusements.

Van Amburgh & Co.'s Menagerie.—The public will regret to see the announcement of the last week but four of this elegant collection of animals and birds. Why the management desire to seek new quarters for them is a mystery. The animals themselves ought not to growl, for their quarters are certainly more beautiful than any they have ever occupied before, and the manager's quarters—financially speaking—must have accumulated in great quantities, judging from the vast number of their daily visitors—sufficient, we should think, to induce them to remain permanently in our City. Natural history is capable of yielding innumerable subjects for valuable study. An opportunity like the present has never before presented itself to the people of our City. As the time is now approaching for its departure, we would advise parents to take the children immediately, and give them the instruction a visit would afford. Three grand performances are given daily. The morning entertainment is preferable for those wishing to avoid a crowd.

Broadway Circus.—The "acting bears" at the Broadway Amphitheatre, have proved quite attractive. The droll movements of the animals are really amusing, and well worth the attention of the curious. The feats of dancing and trick horses, performing dogs, monkeys and ponies, and the brilliant acts of the excellent circus company, go to fill out a programme of unusual variety and attractive power. The matinées on Wednesdays and Saturdays never fail to draw out throngs of juveniles, as well as many "children of a larger growth."

The Federalist.—Messrs. Lippincott & Co., of Philadelphia, announce, in another column, the publication of an edition of The Federalist, as revised and corrected by Madison and Hamilton. It is edited by John C. Hamilton, Esq.

Shooting Affair in Flatbush.—On Sunday night last, a servant in the family of Hon. John Vanderbilt, residing in Flatbush Village, was shot by a man named William Cutting, the ball taking effect in her hip. The girl's name is Ann Walker. She had just returned home from meeting, when Cutting, who had followed her, fired the shot. The report of the pistol brought the wife of Mr. Vanderbilt to the door, when another shot was fired, the ball striking Mrs. Vanderbilt in the abdomen, inflicting a very dangerous wound, her recovery from which was last evening considered doubtful. Cutting then fled, and had not been arrested last evening. It is said that he paid attentions to the girl Walker, and that latterly she had discarded him, which is given as a reason for the murderous attempt. He is a notoriously vile ruffian, and had annoyed the girl for some time, despite her refusal to recognize him.

AFFAIRS IN JAPAN.

The Edict of Expulsion—Another Embassy Decided Upon—The Prussian Treaty Ratified—The Alabama.

Correspondence of the New-York Times:

Kanagawa, Tuesday, Jan. 26, 1864.

The revised edict for our expulsion from the soil of Japan still stands as when we wrote you last, viz.: that we give up the port of Kanagawa and remove to the two extremes of the empire—Nagasaki and Hakodadi. Several interviews having been sought for with the foreign Ministers, for consideration of the subject, without even obtaining an audience, the Japanese Government have decided upon sending another embassy to Europe and America, to lay it directly before the several potentates who are in treaty relations with them. Our Ministers give them no encouragement whatever—at the same time raise no objections to their going. We have no fears, however, as to the result, as the decided stand taken by our home Government in regard to the late difficulties here, does not look much like being so easily persuaded to relinquish the only port in Japan where there is any trade worth having a treaty with the country for. As to the promises of the Japanese Government, that if we will only go to the out-of-the-way places they will guarantee us all the rights and privileges that possibly can be asked for as to trade, and perfect security for life and property. We can only say, promises are all very well, but the innumerable instances in which the most solemn obligations have been unblushingly ignored, when it suited their convenience, during the five years we have had commercial intercourse with them, are not to be lost sight of or easily forgotten. We cannot, therefore, treat any promise they may make with the slightest consideration, in connection with the present subject of abandoning this flourishing place.

They go this time with less display, and fewer pretentions than on the former occasion, taking passage in the T. and O. Mail steamers, via Suez and the Mediterranean. The members of the embassy, with some of whom we have conversed, understand perfectly well the hopelessness of the mission. We doubt, indeed, if the Government itself has any idea that anything will be accomplished by it; yet, probably, to gain time, and for reasons connected with their own internal affairs, they take the chances. We do not know the exact date of its departure, but probably before the Japanese New-Year, which comes early in February.

The Prussian Government has at last succeeded in obtaining a ratification to their treaty made some two years and a half ago. First, several weeks were spent in Kanagawa, having an occasional audience with officers of the Tycoon, sent down from Yedo for the purpose. Nothing satisfactory could be arrived at in this way, and the treaty would probably not have been ratified at all, had not a more decided course been adopted, than that of waiting in Kanagawa till "the Mountain came to them." Obtaining permission from the French Minister to occupy his temple in Yedo, which is his residence when he rests there, the embassy went on board of their frigate, the Gazelle, and in a few hours dropped anchor in front of the capital. Landing 200 soldiers and marines, they marched up to the temple, and took up their abode under protection of their own guard.

It may well be imagined that this sudden move was not long in bringing a deputation from the Government to inquire its cause, when they were quietly told they had come to have their treaty ratified, and that they did not intend to go away without it. They commenced making themselves perfectly at home—going out daily for rides through the city, and visiting the principal places of interest within its limits. As a matter of course the Government surrounded their residence with a large guard, and never allowed them to stir out without a retinue of at least twice their own number, as a protection against the terrible "Loonins" who were prowling about. They were told they were in constant danger of being cut off, and that it would be far better and safer on board of their frigate, where the negotiations could be carried on just as well. Not being able to convince the Prussian Ambassador that this was a fact, they sent a deputation to the French Minister at Kanagawa, requesting his interference or advice for them to leave the temple. He told them, in a few words, that this was entirely unnecessary, as all they wanted was to have their treaty ratified, when they would, no doubt, go away themselves. The Japanese finding themselves in a dilemma, and no way of escape, at length consented to the ratification, in order to get rid of the persevering Prussians, if nothing more.

The Tycoon is to pay another visit to the Micado in a few days. He goes by water, and will probably take for his yacht the American-built steamer Yangtsi, purchased a few days ago from Messrs. Dent & Co. As far as we can learn, most of the steamers which the Japanese have bought during the last three years have either been lost, destroyed, or are broken down. Buying, however, still goes on, and many an old or faulty steamer has been got rid of at fine prices.

The English landed 200 troops of the line a few days ago. It is understood that they are to act as a sort of body-guard to Sir Rutherford Alcock, who is expected daily with his lady, to resume here, as England's diplomatic agent, his perilous duties so vividly depicted, in his Capitol of the Tycoon, or Three Years in Japan. Whether he will think it prudent to expose Lady A. to the many dangers attendant on a residence in Yedo, is yet to be seen. None of the foreign Ministers are residing there now, nor have they had business of sufficient importance to require their presence there any longer than was necessary, since the last remaining one was burned out in June last.

Yokohama, surrounded by a deep mote, with all its approaches guarded by hundreds of men, and under the guns of a large fleet, is a snug, safe place, and one by no means to be despised in these troubled times of "Loonins" and threatened expulsion from their soil. Treaty rights are fine to talk and write about, but the next thing is to get them.

The treaty declares Yedo to be the place where foreign Ministers to this country are to reside; but until our home Governments back their representatives by force, (the only arguments appreciable by Orientals,) sufficient to guarantee at least a moderate degree of security to life and property, we don't see as our diplomatic agents are necessarily called upon to run any more risks than ourselves. The Jamestown and Wyoming are both cruising around in the China Sea after the Alabama, so we are again without any representative force whatever. We are hoping our Government will be able to spare us at least one man-of-war to look after our interests here, as it is awkward, indeed, to be always under the immediate protection of the English.

Arrangements for the Metropolitan Fair—Recent Contributions.

The arrangements for the Metropolitan Fair are nearly completed. Under order of Gen. Dix, on the afternoon of the 28th inst., between the hours of 3 and 4, there will be a grand military parade in honor of the inauguration of the Fair, which will take place in the evening of that day. Not less than 10,000 troops will be under arms and participate in the proceedings of the day. The programme for the evening has not yet been announced, but it is understood a large number of distinguished persons, both civil and military, will be present. Speeches will be made and a musical entertainment given.

The dresses to be worn by the ladies who are to attend the stalls and superintend matters in the different departments, have been determined upon. The Executive Committee will wear a blue badge, on which will be printed the arms of the State. The young ladies at the tables are to wear a broad sash going from the right shoulder to tie under the left arm. Those serving at the tables for the exhibition of goods from Rome will will wear the Roman scarf. Similar distinctions will be made at other tables where articles from foreign cities are on exhibition. The dresses are to be plain black, with white linen collar and sleeves. The Committee on Decorations desire that those having flags, for which they have no immediate use, will forward them to the receiving-rooms on Fourteenth-street, where receipts will be given, and the flags returned at the closing of the fair. Flowers are also requested. Those having conservatories from which they can spare plants, may send them to the rooms on Fourteenth-street, where they will be well taken care of, and returned safely at the termination of the exhibition.

Several large books have recently been received. Among the number, the works of Tacitus, in two volumes, printed in 1723. The Harleian Miscellany, "a collection of scarce, curious and entertaining tracts, as well in manuscript as in print." Love Letters of Henry VIII., found in the Earl of Oxford's library," printed in 1744; Journals of Congress, from Sept. 5, 1774, "exhibiting a complete view of our foreign relations from that time to 1807, with all the confidential State papers. A very curious old copy of Cæsar's Commentaries, once the property of Hartley Coleridge, is also among the number of valuable books received.

Rebel Estimate of Late Operations.

From the Mobile Register and Advertiser.

The Spring campaign in the West upon the part of the enemy may be briefly summed up as a magnificent conception and miserable failure. A grand and comprehensive campaign has degenerated into a gigantic raid. With SHERMAN on the back track at a double quick, GRIERSON trembling under the rapid blows of FORREST, BANKS cowering in New-Orleans, FARRAGUT hesitating to come within range of our forts, the situation must be humiliating in the extreme to our imprisoned and baffled foe. We believe that we have sufficient insight at this date into the movements and plans of the Yankees to surmise their intentions, and to map out the campaign which they had anticipated following up successfully, but which has ended thus far in their complete discomfiture and disgrace.

While we have been doubting and conjecturing the movements of SHERMAN, it appears that he himself has been subjected to torturing uncertainty. The original programme, as thus far developed, appears to have been a masterly one; but fortunately the ability of the Yankees has not been comensurate with their ambition. SHERMAN, having under his command the corps of HURLBUT and MCPHERSON, was to precipitate himself upon POLK, and force the Confederate forces into a disadvantageous engagement between Jackson and Meridian, while the enemy's mounted body, under SMITH and GRIERSON, was to move down upon the rear of POLK's army, and accomplish the double purpose of harassing his retreat and seizing the grain country for the subsistence of SHERMAN. FARRAGUT should appear off Mobile, and by bombardment threaten the city, preventing its garrison from going to the succor of the army in Mississippi, while BANKS was to move up the Pearl River to a suitable point at which to establish his base, and then march to the rear of Mobile, making an investment of that place, and throwing himself within supporting distance of SHERMAN. This would cut off communication by the Alabama and Tombigbee, and make these rivers a back entrance by which BANKS could threaten Selma in flank and rear, while SHERMAN pushed on boldly in front. Thus Mobile of necessity must fall, and POLK forced across the Alabama, the flank of JOHNSTON's army would be threatened by BANKS and SHERMAN. Assuredly this was a stupendous undertaking, and although now a failure and a farce, it is altogether too serious to be laughed at, when we consider the successful execution of SHERMAN's par. of the programme, and know not what would have been the result of the contemplated movement had Banks moved and displayed the same energy and boldness. But

"The best laid plans of mice and men and for some inexplicable reason the Yankee Commander at New Orleans failed to move from his snug city quarters, and LOGAN and GRIERSON were too slow, or too much hindered by FORREST, and thus the bottom dropped out of the tub of the Federal campaign. SHERMAN having accomplished the successful opening of the grand movement, awaited anxiously to hear from his cooperating column from Louisiana, and failing to learn anything of it, and becoming aware of the enemy massing in his front, he siezed the invading bull by the tail and drew him back to his base. His retreat appears to have been as rapid and unexpected as his advance, and quite as successful; but we doubt whether his valuable adjunct, GRIERSON, would prove as fortunate. The youthful spy upon whom was found HURLBUT's indorsement. "Trust the bearer," represents that when he was dispatched to BANKS for information of SHERMAN's success and intentions, it was expected that he would find the former General on the north side of Mobile. Before he left HURLBUT's headquarters, it was the impression of that General that Mobile had been evacuated, the garrison having been withdrawn to Selma. After this messenger had departed, SHERMAN must have been made aware of BANKS's failure to "come to time," and seeing the futility of his campaign without the proper cooperation, he took advantage of the cover GRIERSON's raid afforded, and the detachment of our cavalry after him, to withdraw in all haste. The last vestige of this bungling campaign is the laughable joke FARRAGUT is playing in his bombastic manner off this port, innocently, delightfully oblivious of the magnificent failure in which he is a sharer.

Working Women's Protective Union.

MEETING AT COOPER INSTITUTE—SPEECHES BY JUDGE DALY, REV. WM. H. MILBURN, AND OTHERS.

Last evening, a mass meeting on behalf of the working women was held at the Cooper Institute. The hall was well filled with a very respectable and intelligent audience, among whom were numbers of the working women. Hon. CHARLES P. DALY presided. He said the members of the committee had submitted to him a constitution, which should attract the attention and admiration of all who were interested in the welfare and success of the 30,000 working women now employed in all branches of business in this great commercial City. They had more to struggle with than those of the so-called stronger sex, and the object of this society was to protect them from the frauds of designing men who would take from them a portion of their small earnings, or treat them in any way that was not right. He was astonished to hear that married women of comfortable means took employment to supply them with additional spending-money, and thought it necessary that they should leave the field for those who actually need it. And when they knew the great harm they were doing, he was satisfied they would do so. During the afternoon, MYNDERT VAN SCHAICK, Esq., had called on him and presented him with a check for $50 for the society. He hoped others would follow the good example. His speech was received with much enthusiasm. At its close Miss TERESA ESMONDE read "The Song of the Workingwomen," written by Mrs. ANN S. STEPHENS. At its close a practical working woman exhibited a number of articles made for various large mercantile houses, explained the amount of work they required and the prices paid. The following are a few of them:

A pair of drawers made of white cotton drilling, 1,800 stitches, sewed on the machine, and well made. Completely finished with buckles, buttonholes, straps and strings.

The woman who made these drawers was a smart operator, and could finish four pair per day, working from 7 A. M. until 9 P. M., receiving 4 1-6 cents per pair, or 16⅔ cents for her day's labor; resting, she says, long enough to make herself a cup of tea and eat a piece of bread.

Another very large pair of canton flannel drawers, 2,000 stitches, done by hand. Double seams, felled; with eyelets, buttonholes, buttons, straps and strings. The workingwoman to furnish her own thread—a rule adopted by employers since the price of a spool of cotton has risen from four to eight and ten cents.

This woman, the mother of three children, was very poor, and came to the rooms of the Working Women's Protective Union, No. 4, New-Chambers-street, where she threw down the work, saying she had been working on these drawers for seven months, and could not work any longer for the price paid. Said she—"I may as well starve without work as to work and starve at the same time." An inquiry revealed the fact, that the wealthy firm who employed her paid five and a half cents per pair for these drawers, of which she could make two pairs per day, remarking, "If I get to bed about daylight, and sleep two or three hours, I feel satisfied."

A coarse flannel army shirt, large size, made by hand-sewing. Collar, wristbands and gussets put on with double rows of stitching all round. The seams are felled, three buttonholes, buttons and stays, requiring upward of 2,000 stitches.

The woman who made this garment was sixty years of age, and too deaf to go to the stores for orders. She has worked on these shirts since the war broke out, receiving 7 cents each—one of them being a good day's work for her. Younger women might make two or perhaps three in twelve hours, furnishing their own thread. This old lady occupied, with another woman, a damp, dark basement, where she strained her eyes in the daytime, and sewed by the light of her neighbor's lamp during the evening. At the end of the week her net earnings, after paying for needles and thread, amounted to thirty-nine cents in "currency."

A fine white cotton shirt, with a fine linen plaited bosom, nicely stitched and well made throughout, containing 11,500 sewing machine stitches, six buttonholes, felled seams, &c., &c.

Two of these shirts are finished each day by the operator, who employs nearly every moment of her time, finds her own thread, and receives for the garment sixteen cents each, or thirty-two cents for more than twelve hours' labor. These shirts sell for $3 to $3 50 in the retail stores. Their total cost to the employer may be summed up as follows:

Three yards fine muslin, at 33 cents	99 cents.
Half-yard fine linen	38 cents.
Labor and thread	16 cents.
Buttons	6 cents.
Total cost	$1 59

Thus giving the merchant who so crushes the poor workingwomen a profit of $1 91 on each shirt. Numerous other articles of gentlemen's and ladies' apparel were exhibited and explained, and were in some instances even worse, if possible, than those given above.

Rev. WM. H. MILBURN being introduced, paid a glowing compliment to PETER COOPER, Esq., for his generosity, and thanked God that we had among us some few at least who would help to alleviate the sufferings of the poor. He had often pitied the workingwomen of London and other cities of the Old World, and had prided himself that here in New-York things were different; that in this chivalric country woman received the wages and treatment she was entitled to, but that fond idea had been suddenly destroyed, and he found that we, of the eighteenth century, had in this matter grown worse instead of better. Nearly three-quarters of the New-York merchants had done these women justice, but there were some few who would wring from them their miserable pittance of 16, 20 or 24 cents, "and then go, God knows where, to spend it." He drew a vivid picture of a poor, sick woman, lying in rags on the bare floor in a barren room, the mother crouching over the few remaining embers of fire, and a beautiful sister working steadily, desperately, for the trifling sum she could earn. On their support, can you, said he, with this picture before you, wonder that sometimes a star drops from Heaven and is lost, lost forever, here and hereafter. He asked the ladies who wanted sewing done to send to the rooms of the Association, No. 4 New Chambers-street, that a good and competent woman would be sent them, and he urged them to pay the woman when the work was done, and not make her call two or three times for her money, for it might be she needed that money to buy bread. His speech was listened to with eager attention, and frequently interrupted by applause.

Miss ESMONDE then read HOOD's song of the shirt, after which Mr. BEACH gave an interesting statement of the proceedings of the society since its commencement, and the great good it had done; he urged the citizens generally to help them. At its close he was presented with a beautiful basket of flowers—a present from the ladies.

JAMES T. BRADY, who was to have spoken, was delayed in Washington, and consequently could not attend. Letters were received from Judges ROOSEVELT and KIRTLAND, and numerous other distinguished gentlemen, expressing their interest in the movement, and wishes for its success.

A vote of thanks was then tendered to Judge DALY, and the meeting adjourned.

ARREST OF A DEPUTY AUDITOR AT THE CUSTOM-HOUSE.—JOHN W. HUNTER, a Deputy Auditor at the Custom-house, has been arrested on a warrant issued by the United States District-Attorney, for alleged frauds upon the Assistant Treasurer's office. The arrest grew out of two checks—one of $4,200 and the other of $5,000, which the accused is charged with not having accounted for in the settlement of his accounts. The checks are pronounced by the arrested party to be forgeries perpetrated by a person now confined in Fort Lafayette. The accused most emphatically denies the charges made against him. He was taken before Commissioner STILLWELL, who held him to bail in the sum of $10,000, to answer the charge. Collector BARNEY and S. J. OGDEN gave the required surety, and Mr. HUNTER was released. He has been over thirty years in the Custom-house and has sustained an unsullied character; his innocence of wrong is very generally believed, and his entire exoneration confidently expected.

PURIM BALL.—The Jewish festival of Purim will be celebrated this evening, by a grand, fancy dress ball, at the Academy of Music. It is recognized as one of the most important of Jewish festivals, as it commemorates the deliverance of the Jews from the tyranny of Haman, who was prime minister to King Ahasuerus. The arrangements for the ball are very extensive, and the ornaments appropriate and beautiful. But one thousand tickets have been issued, and these only to be obtained by personal introduction to a member of the committee, the party introducing being held strictly accountable for the character and conduct of the persons introduced. With such strict rules and such liberal preparations, the ball cannot fail to be one of the best of the season.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH CURED.

No. 420 SIXTH-AV., NEW-YORK, Dec. 2, 1863.

I was deaf for several years, and hearing of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I was induced to place myself under his care, and I am now happy to state that my hearing was entirely restored after a short treatment. I was also suffering from chronic catarrh, of which I was also cured by the skillful treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg. I do but justice to the Doctor in stating that in treating me he displayed that skill and knowledge which have already procured for him such a deserved reputation, and that the principles which direct his system of curing Deafness and Catarrh are such as to render success certain, in my opinion. Many months have passed since Dr. Von Eisenberg restored my hearing, and it continues as good as ever.

O. HOPKINS.

CATARRH CURED.

READ!

I have been suffering for a long time from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery, and very painful. My nostrils were constantly obstructed with a pouring fluid. That frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, often attended with a fullness of my throat, great soreness, and a continual dropping. Dr. Von Eisenberg has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I may, indeed, say that I feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg is as skillful as it is successful. It is in my opinion impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. Von Eisenberg's care, with a certainty of being speedily cured.

HARLEM, July 30, 1863.

I have been deaf for over TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, and Dr. VON EISENBERG operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done. I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evince the highest practical ability. I hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

No. 134 ALLEN-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by almost eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR.

NEW-YORK, July 19, 1863.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.

READ.

NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

GRAY'S PATENT MOLDED COLLARS have now been before the public for nearly a year. They are universally pronounced the neatest and best fitting collars extant.

The upper edge presents a perfect curve, free from the angles noticed in all other collars.

The cravat causes no puckers on the inside of the turn-down collar; they are as smooth inside as outside, and therefore perfectly free and easy to the neck.

The Garotte Collar has a smooth and evenly finished edge on both sides.

These collars are not simply flat pieces of paper cut in the form of a collar, but are molded and shaped to fit the neck.

They are made in "Novelty" (or turn-down) style, in every half inch size from 12 to 17 inches, and in "sure-ka" or Garotte) from 13 to 17 inches, and packed in "solid sizes" in neat blue cartoons, containg 100 each; also, in smaller ones of 10 each—the latter a very handy package for travelers, army and navy officers.

Every collar is stamped
"GRAY'S PATENT MOLDED COLLARS."

CHICAGO AND GREAT EASTERN RAILWAY COMPANY,
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,
FOR $2,000,000.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED WITH
Messrs. SCHUCHARDT & GEBHARD, Bankers,
No. 21 Nassau-st., New-York.

The Chicago and Great Eastern Railway Company now offer for sale one million one hundred thousand dollars of their first mortgage bonds, in sums of one thousand dollars each, maturing in thirty years, bearing interest at the rate of Seven per cent. per annum, payable in the City of New-York, on the first days of April and October, in each year.

These bonds are secured by a first and only Mortgage on the property, income and franchises of the Railway Company, executed to Frederick Schuchardt and Henry Morgan, of the City of New-York, Trustees.

The remaining nine hundred thousand dollars of the Bonds are set apart and remain in the hands of the said Trustees, for the purpose of being exchanged for the indebtedness of the Chicago and Cincinnati Railroad Company, running from La Crosse to Loganaport; this effected, the $2,000,000 will form a First and only Mortgage on a line of road 410 miles in length, extending from Chicago to Loganaport, where it connects with the Cincinnati and Chicago Air-line Railroad, forming the shortest line by 40 miles, between Chicago and Cincinnati, and by 36 miles the shortest line between Louisville and Chicago.

It will also open, in connection with roads now in operation, entirely new and very direct lines from Chicago to New-York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and all Eastern cities. The distance between Chicago and New-York by this route being shorter than by either of the existing lines via Dunkirk or Buffalo.

The road is now under contract, and the most strenuous efforts are being made to have it open for traffic during the Summer of 1864.

The interest on the Bonds maturing during the progress of the work has been provided for, and will remain on deposit with the Bankers of the Company, Messrs SCHUCHARDT & GEBHARD, No. 21 Nassau-st., to whom the Company refer for further particulars, and where subscription books for this loan have been opened.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by DR. WARD & CO., No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. DR. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris, and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense, than any other can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health call: it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most obstinate cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st. Call, send, or write.

SPEEDY RELIEF AND SURE CURE GUARANTEED.—Therefore, let no false delicacy prevent your immediate application to Dr. POWERS. Dr. POWERS, successfully consulted with Dr. WARD No. 50 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Veneriens, Paris, where those afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk or exposure—viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhœa, gleet, strictures, ulcers, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of these complaints, enable us to effect cures in most cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This marvelous agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, speedily cured. The men to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases, possessing the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world. Those who have used their preparations are never without. Send for a circular. To Ladies—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

$1,000 FORFEITED AND NO CHARGE UNLESS CURED.—Dr. Hunter's Red Drop cures venereal diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without injury or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury; but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless this remedy is used. This is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known that scientific men, in every department of medical knowledge, begin to appreciate it; hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. It is $1 a vial, and can be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 9 Division-st., New-York City, since 1831. Eight separate rooms and a private entrance. A ten cent bill will secure the Monitor of Health by return mail.

CAUTION TO LADIES, SINGLE AND MARRIED.—Every woman truly a lady, has an aversion to call in or upon a physician in respect to complaints peculiar to her sex. Besides the shock to her delicacy in consulting persons, most of whom know nothing of her ailments, she incurs worse than useless expense in buying injurious pills, drops, potions, &c., by which numerous doctors with whom she unwisely spend her means to restore health. No lady need call upon the unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most obstinate cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of these complaints, enable us to effect cures in most cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This marvelous agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, speedily cured. The men to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases, possessing the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world. Those who have used their preparations are never without. Send for a circular. To Ladies—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

$1,000 FORFEITED AND NO CHARGE UNLESS CURED.—Dr. Hunter's Red Drop cures venereal diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without injury or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury; but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless this remedy is used. This is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known that scientific men, in every department of medical knowledge, begin to appreciate it; hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. It is $1 a vial, and can be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 9 Division-st., New-York City, since 1831. Eight separate rooms and a private entrance. A ten cent bill will secure the Monitor of Health by return mail.

CAUTION TO LADIES, SINGLE AND MARRIED.—Every woman truly a lady, has an aversion to call in or upon a physician in respect to complaints peculiar to her sex. Besides the shock to her delicacy in consulting persons, most of whom know nothing of her ailments, she incurs worse than useless expense in buying injurious pills, drops, potions, &c., by which numerous doctors with whom she unwisely spend her means to restore health. No lady need call upon the unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most obstinate cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD. No. 50 Lispenard-st. Call, send, or write.

FROM ALBANY.

Proposed New Capitol—Agricultural College Lands—Opening Seventh-avenue.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

ALBANY, Monday, March 21.

The Senate have been busily at work to-day, but upon bills of little general importance. Senator BELL gave notice of a bill providing for the construction of a new Capitol. The Senate ordered to third reading a bill providing to pay certain expenses connected with obtaining the land scrip granted to this State by the General Government for Agricultural College purposes. A debate occurred in considering this bill, in regard to the necessity of employing agents or brokers to do business with the departments at Washington. Some of the Senators were confident that the agent who transacted this business for this State should receive at least $1,000 for his services. Other Senators held that there ought not to be, and really was not, such difficulty in making a simple application to receive what had already been granted by act of Congress, and in receiving the grant, as to make it worth a thousand dollars to do such service. The original demand against the State by the agent was more than three thousand dollars; the Comptroller had recommended to pay one thousand, the Committee to whom the question was referred had reduced the sum named to five hundred dollars. The Senate finally made the appropriation one thousand dollars, or so much of that sum as the Comptroller may think a reasonable compensation.

The bill providing for opening the Seventh-avenue of the City of New-York from One Hundred and Thirty-second-street to Harlem River, was ordered to third reading. It is provided in the bill that the Central Park Commissioners may apply by petition to the Supreme Court at any special term for the appointment of commissioners for opening said avenue.

From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

"Mr. TROWBRIDGE'S new romance, 'Cudjo's Cave,' will justify all expectations. It is the best thing he has written, and in all respects, the superior of his 'Neighbor Jackwood.' The scene of 'Cudjo's Cave' is laid in East Tennessee, and the sufferings of the loyalists there resident, furnishes its main material. The story is one of unqualified interest, abounding in breadth escapes, and possessing situations and incidents of thrilling effect."

MONDAY, March 21—P. M.

The Weekly Averages of the old Banks of the City of New-York on Saturday, March 19, 1864, present in the aggregate the following changes from the previous exhibit of March 12:

Increase in Loans	$8,471,767
Increase in Specie	309.137
Decrease in Circulation	29,610
Increase in Undrawn Deposits	1,642,998

Including the Clearing-house operations of the week, which show the inter-exchanges between the Banks, and including also the Sub-Treasury balance at the close of the week, the following is the general comparison with the previous exhibit, and also with the movement this time last season:

	March 21, 1863.	March 19, 1864.	March 12, 1864.
Capital	$69,1 8.000	$69,722,508	$69,722,508
Loans	173 829,479	198.229,513	189,757,746
Specie	33,955,122	21,059 542	20,750.405
Circulation	8,609,723	5,889.197	5,918,807
Gross Deposits	213.309,691	272,744.451	282,848,689
Exchanged	46,305.225	103,056.476	114,803,712
Undrawn	167,004,466	169,687 975	168.044,977
In Sub-Treasury	15,808,762	38,798,639	33,848,393

The very large expansion in the Loans at Bank on the present return, with only a moderate increase in the line of deposits, is supposed to result in good part from the employment of the 5 ℘ cent. Treasury Notes of the United States through the Loan Committee of the Clearing-house. As the Banks expand their Loans to Brokers and others at 6@7 ℘ cent., and are thus brought in debt at the Clearing-house, they hypothecate their 5 ℘ cent. Treasury Notes, received from the Government as Legal Tender, with the Loan Committee, who seal them up and issue to the borrowing Banks a corresponding sum of Loan Certificates, also bearing 5 ℘ cent. The creditor Banks in turn receive these Certificates through the Clearing-House and add them to their Loans and Discounts. This new arrangement has been going on for about a fortnight past, and its expansive effect upon the Bank movement, arrests attention to-day, because of the large disproportion between the increase in Loans and of Deposits—about seven millions of dollars. The ease in Money through the past week is thus accounted for. The Banks were very free lenders on the Street or on Merchant paper, at 6@7 ℘ cent., because, if needful, they could settle their own balances at the Clearing-house, at 5 ℘ cent., or practically in the 5 ℘ cent. Legal-tender Notes paid to them at the Treasury Office on disbursement Checks and Warrants.

The accumulation of Gold in this City continues because of the moderate Export movement. The stock in Bank and in the New-York Treasury Office is now over forty-six millions, as follows:

	Monday, March 14.	Monday, March 21.
In Associated Banks	$20.750,495	$21,059,542
Treasury Office	23.752,515	25.118,578
Total	$44,503,010	$46,178,120
Gain since last Monday		$1,675,110

There is no apparent change in the ease of supply in the Money market. The Brokers of established credit make good their wants at 6 ℘ cent. as the rule of the Street.

The price of Gold is firmer than at the close on Saturday. The fluctuations range within 1 ℘ cent. Bills on London are in fair request for Wednesday's steamer, and the rates more closely approximate the relative market for Gold.

The demand continues good for United States Stocks; sales of the Popular 5-20s at 110 @109⅞ ℘ cent., and of Coupons of 1881 at 112½ ℘ cent. Treasury Certificates, 99½@⅞.

The holders of the Registered 5.20 years 6 ℘ cents. of the United States should bear in mind that the transfers close at Washington, for the May Dividend, on 31st March inst. If the certificates are not in their own names by that time, the Dividend will have to be drawn through the previous holders.

The Railway and Coal and other Miscellaneous Shares speculated in at the Stock Exchange, opened with increased buoyancy this morning, and the market continued strong through the First Board. Subsequently, on the Street and at the Second Board prices were 1@2 ℘ cent. lower on some of the leading Roads, but after the adjournment were partially strengthened again. The market was unsettled to some extent by the Bank statement. There was a reaction of 3 ℘ cent. on Quicksilver Shares, and 2 ℘ cent. on Michigan Southern. The greatest advance on Saturday's sales was in Harlem, which went from 138 to 148, and returned to 145 ℘ cent. An additional rise of 3@4 ℘ cent. was made in the speculation on the Ohio and Mississippi Road Certificates, and 2 ℘ cent. in Northwest and Marietta and Cincinnati.

At 4 o'clock the following prices were made in comparison with Saturday afternoon. The Railway market was again buoyant after the check at the Second Board. There was a further rise in Northwest. The price of Gold was also a fraction higher:

Pork Packing in Cincinnati.

The Cincinnati Price Current, in publishing the full report of the pork packing in that city, says: "It will be seen that the past season was a very short one, about the same in this respect, as that of 1859; and the price was the highest paid in any previous year for eleven years, and, indeed, by referring to our statistics back for twenty-five years, we find that the price in no season during that time has been as high as the past season. There is a large falling off in the number packed, as compared with last year, which is to be attributed to the bad failure of the corn crop in this State and Indiana, particularly the latter State, from which a large number of hogs are generally brought to this market. There was also a falling off in the number brought from Kentucky, in consequence of the Government having taken a large number of the hogs fatted in that State.

The returns show that the whole number packed was 370,623, the average weight 188 11-12 lbs., and the yield of Lard 23¾ lbs. The whole number of Hogs packed in this city each of the last five years was as follows:

Years.	No.	Years.	No.
1860	434,498	1863	608,457
1861	433.798	1864	370,623
1862	474,467

The average weight and yield of Lard per Hog, during the last five years, were as follows:

	Av. wt. lbs.		Yield Lard, lbs.
1859-60	189		23
1860-61	221	5-35	28 9-16
1861-62	224	23-34	29 5-18
1862-63	203		25 21-23
1863-64	188	11-12	23 1- 8

It will be seen that the falling off in weight is 14 lbs. ℘ Hog, and in the yield of Lard a shade less than 3 lbs. ℘ Hog; there was a corresponding falling off in the yield of Head and Gut Lard—about ¾ lb. in the latter, we understand.

The following table shows the average price of Hogs ℘ cental, nett, in this market in each of the last six seasons:

1858-59.	1859-60.	1860-61.	1861-62.	1862-63.	1863-64
6 68½	6 21½	5 97	3 28 2-5	4 4-6	7 00⅜

The following table shows the average price of Hogs each of the last five seasons:

1859-60	6 21 1-8
1860-61	5 97
1861-62	3 28 2-5
1862 63	4 45
1863-64	7 00 1-2

The whole number of houses engaged was thirty-nine.
